I perceive in The National Democrat an article opposing the Maine Law, in the course of which the writer says:

"We may especially mention among the nations addicted to the use of strong drinks, and who use it to an extent that no English or American head could bear, the honest, simple hearted Norwegians. The people of that country are almost patriarchal in their habits, and among the peasantry crime is almost unknown. They are a hardy, energetic race, for from them came the Norse Sea Kings et old, from whom the Normans, who invaded France and settled on the Southern coast, and subsequently conquered England and amalgamated with the Saxon race, are descended—they are a healthy race, for it is well known that in nio country in the world do men attain so great an age as the hardy Norwegian peasantry; yet nowhere is ardent liquor used to so great an eatent. It is used as the marning draft, the stimulant to appetite, and the accompaniment of every meal, and yet it is also weil known, few people are so free from crime as the people of Norway."

Lest some ill-informed persons should give credit to this statement about the use of ardent spirits in Wines 130,000 " " "

Total 295,000 " " "

Gin and Whisky are little known; alcohol is included under Brandies, so that we have about 300,000 gallons of liquor for a year's consumption. Supposing that none of this is used for manufactures (which is certainly a gratuitous supposition) we have just one quart of liquor per annum for each inhabitant. Your readers can judge how far a quart of the ardent will go toward supplying the "morning draft," the stimulant to appetite, and the accompaniment to every meal for three hundred and sixty-five days, and also how far the remarkable absence of crime is due to indulgence in such potations as "no English or American heads could bear."

-We have been requested to publish the under the signature of "A Friend of Truth," in last Tuesday's paper, in reference to the matters between the American and Foreign Bible Society and the First Baptist Church

the American and Foreign Bible Society and the First Baptist Church:

"At the time the meeting-house of the First Baptist Church was erected, their present Pastor was President of the American and Foreign Bible Society, and it was at his request and upon his undertaking to obtain contributions to meet the extra expense—which, however, was never compiled withthat their building plans were so altered as to accommodate the Society. The Corporation of the Church then offered the use of the rooms to the Board of Managers of the Society—the purpose, to use the words of their resolution—' for which they were built,' and desired them to submit the question of their permanent occupancy to the Society at their coming Annual Meeting; this offer the Society accepted.

"Since then things have changed. The Pastor of the Church is no longer the President of the Society, and the Bible Union has been formed to carry out his projects for a new version of the Holy Scriptures: anticipating this very movement to get possession of the Church. In May last, executed and tendered to the Board of the Society, unsolicited by them, a lease of their premises, in order to give legal effect to their agreements. This lease the Society surrendered, on the ground that their substitute quitates the their premises, in order to give legal effect to their agreements, as to them the strongest of all titles, and upon the public disavowal by the Pastor, of any intention on the part of the Church to carry out their own agreement, as to them the strongest of all titles, and upon the public disavowal by the Pastor, of any intention on the part of the Church to remove them.

"The Board of Managers of the Society, no remove from these rooms. This they have received to lay before these rooms. This they have received to their and avon to the lay before these and they may succeed in their nedexor to these rooms. This they have resolved to lay before the Society.

"The Church appear to have the legal power in this case, and they may succeed in their endeavor to obtain for the Bible Union the business location so long occupied by the American and Foreign Bible Society, as the home of the Bible operations of the Baptist denominations. It will be of course a matter of loss and disappointment to the friends of the society, to be deprived of premites which have been built expressly for them, and which this very Church had solemnly agreed they should have for permanent occupancy, and upon whose good faith they have been lelying."

The firemes of the district were early on the ground, and soon succeeded in extinguishing the firmes, not however, before damage to the amount of $1,500 had occurred. The fire appears to have originated in the pantries between the frost and back kitchen. The police of the Seventeenth Ward, were promptly on hand and rendered material aid to the firemen.
